Coffee Background

Fazenda Sete Cachoeiras is named for the seven waterfalls that border the estate in Ribeirão. The farm was established in 1930 and modernized to expand and strengthen coffee quality and sustainable management. The expansive coffee estate includes 1120 hectares, of which 600 are populated with over two million coffee trees.

Agricultural innovations like cutting-edge irrigation technology give rise to uniform and regular crops. At the same time, certified quality management systems maintain high standards from cultivation to post-processing stages at Fazenda Sete Cachoeiras.

Minas Gerais produces more coffee as a region than any other country in the world and accounts for nearly half of Brazil's total production. At altitudes range from 700 - 1,200 masl the Sul de Minas (South of Minas) enjoys an average temperature of 71°F with rainy summers and dry winters. Farms here tend to be on the small side, with properties ranging from 10 to 100 hectares.
