Coffee Background

From the rugged highlands of Central Aceh, nestled at the peak of Mount Geureudong, comes a rare gem in Indonesian coffee: Gajah Estate G1 TP Natural. This exceptional lot is grown at elevations of 1,266 to 1,600 meters above sea level, where nutrient-rich volcanic soils and a dynamic ecosystem - fed by two rivers - create ideal conditions for producing high-quality, specialty-grade coffee.

"Gajah" means elephant in Indonesian, and the estate's name pays homage to the wild elephants that roam the forests of Aceh. Unlike the elusive Sumatran tiger, elephants are fearless and often pass directly through the plantation, leaving a powerful impression on the local community. Their presence is both majestic and formidable - an unstoppable force of nature. The coffee grown here, with its large, elongated cherries and bluish-green hue, seems to inherit the strength and grandeur of these mighty creatures. dense, flavorful beans.

This lot is naturally processed, a rarity in Sumatra where wet-hulling is the norm. After selective harvesting, ripe cherries are dried whole under the sun, allowing the fruit's sugars to infuse the bean. This method enhances the coffee's juicy, fruity character, while maintaining a clean cup - a standout trait compared to typical Sumatran profiles.
