Coffee Background

Mukangu Factory is located in Ruchu sublocation in Kangema Sub-county, Murang'a County - one of Kenya's most historic and celebrated coffee-growing regions in Kenya's Central Highlands. The factory is part of the Ruchu Gacharage Farmers Cooperative Society (FCS), which includes the Ruona, Kahiga, Mukangu, Kamichee, and Ruchu factories. Established in the 1970s, Mukangu serves approximately 800 smallholder farmers, most cultivating less than one hectare and often intercropping coffee with subsistence crops such as maize and beans.

Situated at elevations of approximately 1,650-1,850 meters above sea level, the farmers that serve Mukangu benefit from the moderate high-altitude conditions that define Murang'a's coffee quality. The region's red volcanic soils are rich in nutrients and well-draining, promoting healthy tree development and consistent cherry maturation.

Annual rainfall averages around 1,200-1,300 mm, with long rains from March to May and short rains from October to December. These bimodal rainfall patterns support two flowering cycles, contributing to structured acidity and layered cup profiles typical of Central Kenyan coffees.
